Junior Class Geography, Descriptive of the World, but more especially of the British Empire. With Coloured Map. By WILLIAM LAWSON, F.R.G.S., St Mark's College, Chelsea. 6d.

In this book the geographical, industrial, and commercial characteristics of the several countries of the world are broadly and briefly described. The section relating to our own country, however, is in greater detail; and, to meet the requirements of the Education Department of the Privy Council more readily than is usually done in elementary works of this kind, the whole British Empire is grouped together; considerable information is given concerning the natural productions of the empire, the industrial pursuits of the people, and the interchange of commodities between Great Britain, the Colonies, and other countries. Suitable reference is also made to colonisation and the conditions of successful industry in British possessions generally. With such distinctive features, combined with the clear and simple arrangement of its matter, it is hoped that the book will commend itself alike to Teachers of Government-aided Schools and Private Academies.
